

I live in northern Nevada, where I can only get a few broadcast stations. XM Satellite Radio has provided an invaluable service to me and my family as we drive in the western United States. Several times a year we drive to Seattle, WA, as my wife is being treated for cancer there. XM's ability to provide traffic and weather reports are unique and very valuable to us. It would truly be a public disservice to restrict their ability to do this. I hope common sense and the public good will win out over special interests and allow XM to keep providing local services of this type to us.
